CLEER ANNOUNCES FLOW WIRELESS NOISE CANCELING HEADPHONE

Las Vegas, NV., CES – January 5, 2018 – Be in the moment with Cleer, Inc., a CES 2018 Innovation Awards Honoree, designer, and manufacturer of high-performance personal entertainment electronics as they announce the FLOW – Wireless Noise Canceling Headphone, based on the Qualcomm® CSR8675 Bluetooth® Audio System-on-Chips (SoC), to be demonstrated and shown at CES 2018 at The Venetian Hotel – Suite 29-324.

For immersive, cordless and noise-free listening, the FLOW - Wireless Noise Canceling Headphone is the perfect choice. FLOW combines best-in-class hybrid noise canceling technology (up to 30dB ambient suppression<sup>1</sup>), supported by a Qualcomm® CSR8675 Bluetooth® Audio SoC for enhanced wireless connectivity with Qualcomm® aptX™ and AAC support to help deliver outstanding CD-like quality audio streaming, intuitive touch controls, and up-to 20-hour playback<sup>1</sup>.

Innovative, Cleer ironless audio driver technology, borrowed from the NEXT, delivers bold and articulate playback via a ringed assembly of rare-earth magnets instead of the conventional, soft-iron pole piece. The benefits include: a perfectly-focused magnetic field, high-excursion with optimized voice-coil control, and exceptionally low distortion, even at high output.

A plush and lightweight design affords extended listening comfort and flexible folding for storage in your briefcase or backpack when on the move. For an extra touch, interchangeable deco-rings allow for personalizing the FLOW to suit your style or mood.

The FLOW Wireless Noise Canceling Headphone will ship in Q1 of 2018 and retail for an MSRP of $279.99 U.S.
